WHO IT FITS

Dogs up to about 40 lb. Sized for sofas, armchairs and low beds — if yours is a tall bed, Poplar is the one that reaches.

WILL IT FIT?

Three steps for a sofa or an armchair, four for a low bed. Measure floor to cushion first and pick the height that lands just under the seat - a dog steps down onto a stair more confidently than it steps up onto one that overshoots.

MATERIALS

High-density foam

CARE

Plush, removable, machine washable

Setup & use

GETTING STARTED

1. Put it where he already jumps. Set it flush against the sofa at the spot he uses. Leave it there a few days without asking anything of him.
2. Walk him up, don't lift him. Treats on each tread, one step at a time, going up first. Up is easier than down and builds the habit.
3. Then practice coming down. Stand at the bottom with a treat at floor level. Coming down is the part most dogs need convincing about, and the part that matters.

BEFORE YOU START

- ☐ Height measured from the floor to the top of the bed, sofa or seat
- ☐ Floor space in front of the furniture for the depth of the stairs
- ☐ Hard floors: a non-slip base or rug underneath
- ☐ Treats for the first few sessions

PLACEMENT GUIDELINES

HEIGHT

Choose the step count whose top step sits just under the surface your dog is climbing onto, not above it.

POSITION

Push the stairs flush against the furniture so there is no gap at the top for a paw to slip into.

TRAINING

Teach going up first, one step at a time with treats; coming down is the part to practise most.

Safety. Do not exceed the listed weight limit. Keep the stairs pushed up against the furniture and check they do not slide before each use.
